

ABSTRACT

A universal cancer vaccine Having at least one telomerase reverse transcriptase peptide as a specific tumor antigen, a method for its use for targeting cytotoxic T lymphocytes to tumor cells, and a method for induction and/or augmentation of a cancer patient's immune response against his tumor are disclosed.